Metro Vancouver Regional District

Metro Vancouver is governed by a Board of Directors made up of 41 elected officials from across the region, who are elected by their residents and chosen by their Councils to represent their municipality or Treaty First Nation at the Board. It is standard practice that reports go through a Committee for discussion and direction prior to going to the Board for decision. Committees are made up of elected officials from across the region, and may or may not be members of the Metro Vancouver Board.

Follow Us

Metro Vancouver is a diverse organization that plans for and delivers regional utility services, including water, sewers and wastewater treatment, and solid waste management. It also regulates air quality, plans for urban growth, manages a regional parks system, provides affordable housing, and serves as a regional federation. The organization is a federation of 21 municipalities, one electoral area, and one treaty First Nation located in the region of the same name. The organization is governed by a Board of Directors of elected officials from each member jurisdiction.
